LIT 505 INTEGRATING TECHNOLOGY IN LITERACY INSTRUCTION

This course will examine the role of technology integration in the four main tenets of traditional literacy instruction- reading, writing, speaking and listening, as well as provide the opportunity to examine the pedagogical decisions for integrating technology in the classroom. The focus throughout the course is to teach candidates to integrate technology with literacy instruction in a dynamic way that affords students the opportunity to access content and learning in a way that was not possible prior to the advent of specific emerging technologies. 2.00 hours

LIT 510 STRATEGIES FOR EFFECTIVE WRITING INSTRUCTION

This course examines current trends, best practices, research, and challenges in the teaching of writing at the primary, intermediate, and middle school levels (K-8). Major research programs and theoretical perspectives that have contributed to our knowledge about effective writing instruction are studied. 2.00 hours

LIT 515 STRATEGIES FOR EFFECTIVE READING INSTRUCTION

This course explores a repertoire of instructional practices which help students in grades K-8 to acquire, expand, and deepen their ability to comprehend a variety of texts. A focus of the course is preparing teachers to create active literacy classrooms in which children are engaged in reading, writing, and discussion to deepen comprehension. 2.00 hours

LIT 520 REACHING SECOND-LANGUAGE READERS AND WRITERS

This course examines theory and application related to teaching reading and writing to second language learners. The emphasis is on various instructional strategies and materials facilitating the assessment and development of English language learners in elementary and middle grade levels. 3.00 hours

LIT 525 REACHING RELUCTANT READERS AND WRITERS

The intent of this course is to study the effective engagement of K-8 students whose motivation and interest in reading and/or writing is lacking. The course will take a focused look at affective elements related to literacy instruction such as rapport, student choice, teacher modeling, and authentic assignments. Throughout this course, students will have opportunity to make use of a variety of specific strategies intended to increase motivation and interest in reluctant readers and writers in their own classrooms. 2.00 hours

LIT 530 ORAL INTERPRETATION OF CHILDREN'S LITERATURE

This course will focus on the types of literature and various oral methods which can be used in teaching literature in elementary and middle school. The ongoing focus of the course will be drawing in the interest of students through the creative use of solo and group oral reading. This approach combines performance with some stagecraft. Literature will draw from children's books, poetry, short story, newspapers, diaries and the novel. The course will develop the vocal capabilities of the participants, such as pitch, pace, pause and force. 2.00 hours

LIT 535 LITERACY CONFERENCE

The culmination of this degree program will be a literacy conference featuring a variety of contemporary literacy topics explored and expounded upon by experts from around the country. Students will be actively involved in hosting this annual event. 2.00 hours

LIT 605 COMMUNICATION IN PROFESSIONAL SETTINGS

This course will help the student to better communicate orally as an individual and orally in group presentations by studying and practicing strategies and methods for exceptional presentations to a variety of audiences and readers in an educational setting. 3.00 hours

LIT 610 LITERACY RESEARCH

In order for candidates to become mindful consumers of research, this course will introduce students to foundational and current research in literacy. This course will cover the major quantitative methods (survey, correlational, experimental designs), qualitative methods (grounded theory, ethnography, narrative), mixed methods, and action research processes. Candidates will also learn sampling, data collection, and analysis techniques associated with these methods.
